DESCRIPTION

Small ceramic vessel produced by Menelika pottery in the 1950s.

With its cylindrical shape and slightly flared rim, the piece features a stylized motif applied over a deep green glazed surface, structured by darker horizontal bands. The decoration reflects the graphic language of post-war French ceramics.

The glaze, subtly varied and slightly irregular, highlights the handcrafted nature of the piece.

Original "Poterie d'art Menelika" label preserved underneath.

France, circa 1960.
