DESCRIPTION

With its slender and geometric silhouette, this lamp is designed to fit into a corner and cast a soft upward light. Its black lacquered metal structure, simple yet sculptural, rests on a pointed base that enhances its vertical balance. The light reflects on the surrounding walls and ceiling, producing a calm, architectural glow.

An anonymous but characteristic example of 1980s Italian design, where light, line and space merge in a minimalist and expressive composition.

Italian work, circa 1980.
