DESCRIPTION

This versatile table, designed by Joseph-André Motte, is ideal for small spaces, functioning as a coffee table, desk, console, or dining table. Its clever design allows it to adapt to various needs while optimizing space.

The table features a black lacquered metal mechanism and square brushed steel legs, supporting white wood and melamine panels that can be unfolded to become a dining table accommodating up to six people. It offers four configurations: low position unextended, low position extended, high position unextended, and high position extended.
